"Henry Got Crops!" is a 2 ½ acre farm located at Saul High School, managed by Weavers Way staff. The farm not only brings food to the community, but also serves as an educational opportunity for students at Saul. The farm is located on the school's campus, so teachers and their classes can come to the farm on a regular basis to learn about small scale, organic, vegetable growing. It is a CSA (community supported agriculture) farm with over 100 members. These members buy a "share" of the farm, which entitles them to a weekly supply of vegetables for the entire growing season.
